

SOLDIER BONUS SURE DESPITE COOLIDGE VETO

Senator Smoot Predicts Passage Of Bill Over President's Head

FAVORS PAID UP INSURANCE

Method Of Payment Will Be Decided After Measure Has Been Approved

Washington—Senator Smoot, chairman of the senate finance committee, said on leaving the White House Monday that the soldier bonus bill would be passed over the president's veto and that so far as the senate is concerned, the measure would have at least two votes more than the necessary two-thirds.

The natural inquiry is whether the message of the bonus will kill tax revision. The present indications are that the soldier bonus bill will be adopted without providing a plan to finance it and that once the expenditure is authorized it will be the task of congress to find out how the money can be raised.

Secretary Mellon's plan for tax reduction is predicated on the theory that there will be no bonus bill. Should a bonus be adopted, it may be necessary to rewrite the entire plan or at least hold it in abeyance until the exact cost of the bonus is determined. Efforts thus far to get an accurate estimate have failed because it could not be learned in advance whether the ex-service men would except cash or some of the other forms of the plan. Faced with the problem of finding the money to meet the bonus and at the same time give the country a more equitably distributed tax burden than under present laws, the chances are that the tax on luxuries will be retained and that the present law of consumption taxes in the present law will not be abandoned. In other words, instead of calling it a sales tax, the "luxury tax" may be imposed. There is a movement on foot to find out just how the country would stand a tax on sales of one-eighth of one percent. It will be recalled that the late President Harding was in favor of paying for the bonus by a sales tax, but the proposal failed largely because of the fact that the bonus itself did not have the necessary two-thirds to get it passed over a presidential veto.

WILL TRY TAX CUT AND BONUS

With many new members in both houses of congress and a congressional campaign coming on which means that the members fear the resentment of the ex-service men, the passage of some kind of a bonus bill would seem to be assured together with some kind of a tax bill. On the satisfaction which both measures give the electorate will depend to no small extent the verdict at the polls next November, but the outstanding fact today is the determination of congress to attempt both tax revision and the payment of a soldiers' bonus.

Senator Smoot is hopeful that when various plans are examined for the handing of the bonus, the nation will approve his paid up insurance scheme whereby the ex-service men would be assured of certificates that would enable them and their dependents to borrow certain amounts, if necessary, to meet their needs. In this way it is hoped that the ex-service man would be rewarded.

The fact that Senator Hiram Johnson and William McAdoo have both come out in favor of tax revision and the payment of a bonus is regarded here as evidence of the part the bonus question will play in the forthcoming campaign, and members of congress seem to be unconvinced thus far that the treasury is unable to stand both. Unless more figures are forthcoming as to the true costs, the treasury argument is not going to be effective for every time one discusses the bonus with a member of congress who favors it, he is ready with a definite opinion that it can and will be financed. The fight is by no means begun and votes that appear to be committed now may be changed later, but on the present look of things, the bonus will be adopted and it will be up to congress to find a way to pay for it.

Extend Probe For Victims Of Oil Fraud

Seek Clues In West Where Amount Of "Invested" Cash Is Growing

By Associated Press

Chicago—While prosecutors here continue to search for clues to the whereabouts of Leo Koretz, missing promoter of an alleged Panama "oil bubble," investigations have been extended to New York, Denver, Colorado Springs and other cities, where investors are believed to have added thousands of dollars to the $5,000,000 or more which Koretz is charged with gathering in.

According to information which investigators say they have, Koretz received an amount in New York equal to that invested by his friends and relatives here.

Mrs. Selma Auerbach, wife of a wealthy theatre owner who is said to have invested $35,000 in the Baycon Co., who was sought for three days for questioning by the state attorney appeared at the prosecutor's office Monday night and denied any knowledge of the place refuge of the missing promoter. She declared, according to assistant state attorney, that her only acquaintance with Koretz had been at functions she attended with her husband.

Prosecution for receiving stolen property is planned by States Attorney Robert E. Crowe against Mrs. Etta Speyer, sister, and Mrs. Bertha Myer, mother of Koretz, who have refused to turn over to the prosecutor $75,000 given them by Koretz before he vanished. Mr. Crowe announced yesterday that the state had turned back $225,000 and Mrs. Koretz, wife of the missing promoter, has turned over jewels and personal effects valued at $75,000.

Every Automobile Driver Can Afford To Be Good Fellow

Splendid Weather Misleading Appleton People Into Believing There Will Be No Winter And No Christmas

What is the matter with Appleton folks this year? Are they being misled by the splendid weather into believing that we are not to have a winter and a Christmas this year? Does it require cold weather to warm their hearts to the point of remembering their 200 families in dire need of help?

Christmas is just a week off and yet there is little indication thus far of the kindly heart which has been characteristic of Appleton in other years. Less than $300 of the $1,500 required to take care of Appleton's unfortunate families has been given to the Good Fellows club. And the list of Good Fellows is much shorter than it was a year ago today.

The Good Fellows club editor has noticed something interesting but rather discouraging in the week since the first appeal was made. He has noticed that a large number of contributions to the needy have been made by persons of very moderate means while the men and women in more fortunate circumstances are holding back. There has been a mighty slow response from men and women who can best afford to help these in distress.

There are more than 2,000 automobile drivers in Appleton and certainly a man who can afford to drive an automobile can afford to give a little to the poor, yet there are mighty few drivers who have opened their hearts. Every man who owns an automobile ought to have his name in the list of Good Fellows. It hardly seems possible that he can enjoy driving a car—a luxury in the truest sense—when there are people in Appleton who haven't shoes so they can walk in comfort.

Unless there is a decided increase in interest in the poor there will be a lot of poor kids in Appleton on Christmas morning without the faintest semblance of Christmas happiness.

Only a few days are left but there still is time to send your help to the Good Fellows Club. Clip the coupon in this paper and send it to the Good Fellows Club, Editor of the Post-Crescent. It will be the best thing you do during this Christmas season.

'MYSTERY MAN' PREFERENCES JAIL TO PUBLICITY

Sailstad Will Be Arraigned Late This Week Or Early Next Week

By Associated Press

Superior—Edward B. Sailstad will be arraigned before Judge F. S. Parker on a charge of arson late this week or the first part of next week, according to District Attorney Robert E. Kennedy, who returned to Superior Monday night. Mr. Kennedy stated that he had not yet fully decided whether Dorothy Anderson will be arraigned as a principal.

The district attorney will confer with the prisoners in the Douglas-co jail Tuesday and this conference he declared, may decide his future actions.

Sailstad told newspaper men Monday night that he had no wish to get out on bail. "I do not care to be free and be about Superior streets," he stated. Miss Anderson is similarly inclined, it was intimated. The two while in jail are closely guarded from curiosity seekers, and are content to remain there.

In the afternoon Sailstad was also in conference with Peter B. Cadigan and John A. Cadigan, attorneys for Mrs. Leone Sailstad-Richardson. The parties declined to discuss what took place. Peter B. Cadigan announced that Mrs. Sailstad-Richardson had started through them, proceedings for divorce from Sailstad to be filed shortly in Eau Claire-co.

John A. Cadigan issued a statement that he was glad the case had "broken" as it had. He stated that two insurance companies had already settled for $4,500 apiece on policies having face values of $5,000 each. "The insurance companies bet half the policies he was alive, and we bet half the policies he was dead," he stated.

MOB MURDERS NEGRO AND MAN WHO HIRED HIM

Oklahoma Town Carries Out Policy Of Discouraging Blacks

By Associated Press

Marlow, Okla.—Marlow's unwritten law, exemplified by prominent public signs bearing the command, "Negro, don't let the sun go down on you here," caused the death Monday night of A. W. Birch, prominent hotel owner, and the probably fatal wounding of a Negro who has stayed here a day or two.

They were victims of a mob of more than 15 men who went to the hotel where the Negro had been employed three days ago as a porter, and shot them down when Birch attempted to persuade them to desist from their threat to lynch the Negro.

Marlow, one of several towns in Oklahoma which has not allowed Negroes to settle in their vicinity, for years has abided by the custom of permitting no members of the race to remain here after nightfall.

Last Saturday, Birch brought Robert Jennings, the Negro, here to serve as a porter in his hotel. A few hours later he received an anonymous communication ordering him to dismiss the porter at once and drive him from the city.

Birch ignored the letter. The mob went to the hotel early Monday evening, its members calling loudly for the Negro and announcing their intention of hanging him on the spot.

The hotel proprietor, with Jennings at his side hurried into the lobby to intercede, but was shot dead before he could speak. The Negro also fell critically wounded.

The residents then fled.

Mrs. Birch, who witnessed the shooting, said she thought she recognized the man who killed her husband, but authorities early Tuesday said they had no clues as to the identity of members of the mob. They were not masked.

Indiana Senator Discusses Upper House Contest With President Coolidge

Royal Family Forced To Flee From Greece

By Associated Press

Athens—King George and Queen Elizabeth will leave Athens Tuesday night for Rumania, it is announced by the newspapers here Tuesday.

The government Monday night informed King George in writing that it considered it advisable for him to leave Greece until the national assembly had decided on the regime best befitting the country. The king reserved his reply until today.

King George II of Greece, eldest son of the late King Constantine, ascended to the throne on Sept. 23, 1922, after his father had been forced to abdicate by the Gonasas Plastiras revolution. It became apparent almost immediately that George was to be a monarch in name only for the revolutionary regime gave Greece what was virtually a military dictatorship. Nevertheless, there was no disposition to terminate the dynasty, and a semblance of power was allowed him.

Tragedy and disaster have lurked in the paths of the Greek royal family since the assassination of King George I in 1913. George I, who the second King of Greece having ascended the throne after the first reigning monarch, Prince Otto of Bavaria, was expelled from the kingdom in 1862 after reigning 29 years.

Constantine ascended the throne after his father's assassination and reigned until 1917, when he was removed by the edict of the allied powers and his second son, Alexander, placed in his stead. Alexander was in power a little more than three years and died in Oct. 1920 from the effects of a wound inflicted by the teeth of a pet monkey. The Greeks then clamored for the return of Constantine and he re-entered Athens amid great pomp. With his return, his subjects were roused to great patriotic display. War against Turkey, because popular and was declared. For a time the Greek forces achieved signal success against the Turkish armies, and then, through what was attributed to poor management, the tide turned against them and Constantine was forced for the second time to abdicate his throne.

Prince George's eldest son, then became king.

Obregon Forces Clear San Marcos Of Rebels

El Paso, Tex.—Federal troops have taken San Marcos the important strategic point between Vera Cruz and Mexico City and are advancing steadily toward the seaport stronghold of the rebels, according to advices received Tuesday by Mexican Consul General Enrique R. Ruiz.

Fighting for possession of San Marcos had been under way for more than 16 hours before the rebels were forced to retreat. Mr. Ruiz was advised. The federals captured an immense amount of ammunition, small arms, a number of cannon and several trains used by the rebel forces for transportation. Mr. Ruiz was informed.

The rebels at Vera Cruz "taking into consideration the importance which the station at San Marcos has for them, it being the key to their communication as a base of operations on the Mexican railway and the International Oceanic, have throughout Sunday and Monday prepared their defenses. General Serrano reported. They have been concentrating their best troops at San Marcos, he said, with the view of defending it against the advance of the federals, "which will be launched tomorrow (Tuesday) at the first hour."

Interesting Program Presented
At "Ladies' Night" Meeting
Of Club

More than 100 men and women attended the weekly meeting of the Lions Club in Corway hotel Monday evening. Dr. W. H. Starnfield, pastor of the West Side Methodist church at Green Bay, was the principal speaker, discussing "Citizens' Duties."

The formal part of the meeting was conducted in the usual lion fashion, with the calling of the roll and trans- action of club business. This was done so that the wives and daughters of Lions would know what "their men" do at the weekly meetings.

Entertainment was provided by Harry Gals and James L. Gals and the entire club and its guests joined in community singing. About 30 came from Green Bay and a half dozen more from Oshkosh attended the meeting.

Dr. Starnfield discussed the problems and the responsibilities of a citizen. He urged more activity on the part of citizens and more interest in public affairs.

Teachers Showing Great Interest In Stimulating Youngsters To Read

Supplementary reading in rural schools of Outagamie county is not only proving a great help to the teacher in broadening the child's intellect but is increasing in popularity from year to year. Every year since 1915 a wide spread in the state reading circles has been made. The county superintendent of schools is anxious to report a gratifying percentage of increase.

There is a nearly 70 per cent of all the children from the second grade to those enrolled in the reading circles. The number of pupils was 238, as compared with a total enrollment of 340 pupils in the first grade. The reading circles are a very important part of the school work. Special credit will be given those pupils who complete the reading list of books to be read during the year. The county is active in promoting this work.

School children who excel in reading are rewarded by reading books during the year. Special books are distributed for reading during the year. At the end of each year the county superintendent will distribute a certificate to each pupil who has completed the work prescribed.

Lists of approved books have been prepared by the state department of education and are in the possession of every rural teacher. The county superintendent has prepared a list of books to be read during the year. The books are distributed to the pupils and the teacher is responsible for the work.

NO ICE ON RIVER TO INTERFERE WITH BOATS

Navigation in 1922 closed Dec. 18, the time having been extended to partially make up for the interruption caused by the dam going out at Little Rapids. This year there were no interruptions and navigation closed Dec. 1 with nearly all boats in their winter quarters. Had it been necessary to extend the time of closing to Dec. 18 again this year it could have been done without any interference of ice. Quarter of a century ago navigation always closed between Nov. 15 and 21 and it was no uncommon thing for boats to become locked in the ice even at that early period.

CHERRY-ST BRIDGE

Wausau Iron Works which is building the new Cherry street bridge expects to complete the concrete piers this week. The last one on the south side of the river is nearly completed. Rather than take chances with the weather the employees worked all day Sunday. Now that the piers are about completed work will progress more rapidly. The structure is to be completed by July 1.

Chamber Of Commerce Forum On This Subject Will Be Held January 15

Prof. Ford H. MacGregor of the University of Wisconsin and secretary of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, is to be the speaker at the chamber of commerce forum dinner Jan. 15 at which the subject of managerial government of cities will be discussed.

This meeting originally was planned for December but was deferred on account of the holiday activities. A larger attendance is expected on the later date.

The chamber of commerce is planning to present an impartial discussion of the merits and disadvantages of managerial government because so many of the members indicated in the questionnaires of last spring that they were interested in this problem.

Mr. MacGregor is one of the best informed men of the state on the operation of the various types of government. He is a member of the Wisconsin Municipal League and will tell what the experience of other cities has been. He has been made chief of a new municipal reference bureau of the extension division of the University of Wisconsin.

INOCULATE LEGUMES TO GET GOOD CROP

Seeds Must Be Treated Before They Are Put In Ground. Agronomists Say

Wisconsin farmers are inoculating their legume seeds before putting them into the ground.

The growing demand for inoculation cultures at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture bears this out. Figures show that there has been an ever increasing demand by farmers in the state for legume cultures since 1915. During that year 59,000 cultures were distributed while in 1923 this number exceeded 50,000.

At one time it was thought that when a field had been sown within inoculated seed such as clover, alfalfa, peas or soybeans no further treatment would be needed when the field was re-sown. Bacteriology specialists at the Badger Farm school have proven the falsity of this belief through experiments.

Inoculation of small seeded crops, such as clover and alfalfa, the seed of which provides but little nourishment for the seedling, often enables the crop to pass through the hazardous period immediately following germination. Without inoculation the plant may suffer nitrogen starvation or fall victim to other unfavorable conditions confronting the progress of the young plant.

Efforts are being made to introduce new legumes into Wisconsin's scheme of farming in the form of alfalfa, soybeans and sweet clover. These plants

2-FOLD MOTORIST CLUB IS PLANNED

Constitution and by-laws for a 2-fold motorist safety club are being drafted by the chamber of commerce to be presented at a meeting after the holidays at which an organization of this kind will be launched among car owners.

The club will be committed to a program of uniform and safe driving through rules which it will adopt, and also will embody the ideas of the national Motorists League for Country-side Preservation. The latter pledges itself to abstain from liquor camps, sites, injuring forests and property, wasting game and leaving fires which might ignite forests.

Appleton's club will embody the best ideas of numerous such organizations throughout the country through data which have been gathered in the last two weeks by chamber of commerce.

only bring full value to the farmers of the state if they are used in conjunction with proper inoculating cultures to give them a boost over their early seedling periods when their chances of being stunted are at a maximum.

BEWARE OF THE CHRISTMAS CANDLE

In America, of late years, there has been an unhappy attempt to return the candle to vogue, and Christmas is probably the one occasion upon which many people seem to feel that they cannot get along without this regressive form of illumination. Luckily, the danger of lighting a decorated tree with these little, exposed flames is plain enough to the vast majority of sensible people, who are abandoning candles in favor of the much safer—when properly made and installed—and altogether more effective colored electric lamp sets. Illuminating trees attractively by means of focused spotlights also is safe and this method is growing in popularity.

It is not always recognized, however, that a risk equally great is run by folk who place burning candles, fitted usually into unstable holders, at windows, where a draft from without or the slightest movement of air within the house, may bring into contact with the flames light draperies, dry holly wreaths and other readily ignitable decorations.

To display a light where it may be seen by passers-by is, of course, a pretty piece of symbolism but it has, alas, often been converted into a beacon to guide the fire department, and from a token of Christmas cheer has become a signal of distress. Symbolism achieved at the cost of human life, and of property destruction amounting annually to thousands of dollars, is bought at too steep a price to be desirable.

As for the general employment of candles about the house at this and other seasons, it would be more than a little amusing to hear the outcry that would follow an interruption of the local supply of electricity and gas, making the candle a matter not of choice but of unromantic necessity.

According to statistical records the use of the so-called open lights results in nearly three million dollars' worth of property destruction in this country every year, while to them are due, as well, many of the 15,000 yearly deaths by fire; and one of the commonest forms of open light is the candle. Of course the candle is not the only Yuletide hazard, but since it is an important one, why should it be tolerated unnecessarily? Surely no one can wish to do anything that might cast the shadow of tragedy across the celebration of Christmas.

WHAT CONGRESS CAN DO

Congress could do no better work next year than to support commerce. There is nothing that congress could do to make business better, but congress could make business worse. The thought which every workman, farmer, merchant, manufacturer and banker has uppermost on his mind is whether congress will undertake foolish legislation and threaten impairment of business, or whether it will control itself sufficiently to let business alone.

Leading men in commerce, finance and agriculture have been discussing next year's business prospects. Economists have been analyzing conditions of trade. All have the same opinions. They think business should be better next year than it has been this year. Many large building projects are financed. The railroads are ready to buy equipment, rails, materials and supplies if they are not crippled. There is much reserve capital.

There is only one unfavorable indication, and that is politics. What effect will politics have on business? Business will get along wonderfully if congress and professional politicians will keep their hands off it. The presidential campaign should not retard business.

THE FARMER AND HIS NEEDS

Mr. E. T. Meredith of Des Moines, former secretary of agriculture, spoke to the convention of the American Petroleum Institute of the business man's ignorance of the farmer's needs. Mr. Meredith is one of those observing agriculturists who tries to be fair to the city dweller and the farmer: he is not deceiving, as a few of the agriculturist leaders are, but is justly unimpeachable.

Who said farming consists only of wheat raising? Who says the farmer hasn't any money to spend? These are the kind of questions which he asks and answers. He resents the suggestion that the farmer is in distress and wants to be patronized by the government or the public. Agriculture is the biggest of all businesses, and Mr. Meredith remarks that the reason that business men do not understand it is that they lack imagination.

City men imagine that the farmer receives his income in the fall. Mr. Meredith explains that it comes in, directly or indirectly, all the year round. City men imagine that there is no relationship between business and the professions and farming. Mr. Meredith proves that there is by enumerating what the farmer buys.

The farmer, says Mr. Meredith, has $3,600,000,000 invested in machinery, and for maintenance spends $360,000,000 a year. The farmer has $14,000,000,000 invested in buildings, and the replacement or upkeep cost is $250,000,000 a year. To show trade possibilities on the farm, Mr. Meredith states that only ten per cent of the farms have running water; only seven per cent have electricity or gas; only two per cent have motor-trucks, and only three per cent have tractors. There are 6,500,000 farms, 11,000,000 men on them, 11,000,000 women and 20,000,000 children.

It is better to bring business men and farmers to friendly understanding by illustrating how they depend on one another—the city men buying from the farmers and the farmers from the city men—than to engender animosity and suspicion. Prosperity can be had only when both the city and country thrive.

CHRISTMAS GIVING

Christmas as a vast economic undertaking is well under way. Indeed it was under way for hundreds of thousands of Americans the week after Christmas last year, when savings clubs in every city in the land began collecting their weekly installments.

It is a question what the Founder of Christmas would say of a thrifty, systematic saving throughout a whole year, to gain a certain fixed amount with which to purchase a carefully apportioned list of gifts, in return for which other gifts of about the same cost, while not formally expected, are customarily tendered.

This is Christmas in its barest, most cynically considered aspect. The give-and-take of it is considered by itself, is for thousands of families an almost comically mechanical proceeding—an adherence to a tradition. Yet it is folly to complain, after all is said, of the money and trade side of Christmas. It does add measurably to the unusual spirit of goodwill which pervades the entire season, uplifts humanity, and reminds the greatest and the least of us that charity is still the first of the virtues.

Take away the giving—even the foolish giving, and the carefully calculated giving, which is in many cases necessary if there is to be any giving at all—and what force would be left to make Christmas? The force of a supreme religious event, to be sure; but with no outlet in practice, no satisfactory general celebration.

SOMETHING FOR THE WILLIES

You know what they are if you've ever had 'em. The tired business man at the ball game trying vainly to get some exercise vicariously, the athlete who has gone stale from overtraining or too fast training, the man who suffers from "brain fog," has the willies.

One with the willies derives little if any benefit from a vacation, sleeps but fitfully or with too much dreaming or too much snoring, wakes often, and does not feel refreshed by his sleep, can't knock down to his "work," or concentrate on anything, looks haggard, feels depressed and is peevish. I'd like to bet that the protocol thus far will describe many a reader's case better than he could describe it himself. After all, you see, most of us have a touch of the willies now and then, if we don't live right. In any case, let me give fair warning that I have no further particulars to send to any one who skips these symptoms for his own. I am going to say all I have to say about the willies, including etiology, pathology and therapy, right here.

The causation of etiology of the willies is simple, underoxygenation. The pathology we have already sufficiently discussed.

The medicine is, like most treatments, "three fold"—pills, saline and tonic, or something on that order. Shucks, it scarcely seems necessary to mention the first and most essential remedy, more oxygen. One way to get it would be by strapping an oxygen tank on your back and using an inhaler, but this is cumbersome, expensive and really not nearly so efficient as the other way. The other way is the pills. People hate to take pills which are good for them. The other way to get oxygen is by exercise. Say two miles on the hoof three times a day, as an average dose. Or any other equivalent general exercise. Dangerous days, those when we don't get our exercise.

The second part of the treatment, the tonic, is nothing else than our old friend iodine. Just a wee speck of iodine every day for perhaps three months out of the year. One drop of ordinary brown tincture may be taken in not less than a glassful of water, or once a day in each third or fourth month, to brighten up the face, plus and improve digestion. Iodine does the trick. If we get a sufficient iodine ration. Most of us do not get a sufficient iodine ration any more. Iodine increases the activity of the thyroid gland which produces a chemical substance which increases oxidation in the system.

We still have the saline to dispose of. The third part of the treatment of the willies is really the nub of the ventilation problem from your personal point of view. Install a sufficient number of accurate mercury thermometers in your living rooms and work rooms, make it your favorite indoor sport to watch the mercury; do something whenever it rises above 68 degrees; open the windows or put out the fire or discharge the janitor, but get busy and do something or you'll never get over the willies.

(In order to forestall what might be deemed just cause and provocation for a letter about the same, permit me to explain that iodine is just the modern labor saving way of spelling what folks generally know as iodine.)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Why Fumigate?

Is there any way to fumigate clothing worn by a person who had tuberculosis to make the clothing safe for children?—Mrs. C. F. T.

Answer—Laundering is sufficient disinfection to make clothing safe. If it can't be washed, steam sterilization will suffice. If it can't be placed in a steam sterilizer hang it in the open air where it will be free of germs in the sun for 10 hours.

Home Treatment For Appendicitis

Is there any kind of home treatment that will benefit appendicitis? Are hot applications good? How about the olive oil treatment?—Mrs. O. T. L.

Answer—Your hot applications and olive oil may be all right if you are just making believe you've got appendicitis. The notion that oil of any kind (be it under its own name or under the name of some nostrum) can have any value in appendicitis is dangerous.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Tuesday, December 20, 1898

C. H. Ferry was in Milwaukee on business. Miss Ida Uley of Neenah was the guest of Appleton friends.

District Attorney-elect F. M. Wilcox of Seymour was in Appleton on business.

Miss Zana Miller arrived home from Madison to spend the holidays with relatives.

The new city home on Spencer-st was completed and was to be occupied at once.

During the previous three day farmers delivered more than 20,000 pounds of turkeys and 10,000 pounds of ducks, chickens and geese to Fred Petersen, who shipped them north nearly as fast as they were delivered.

Miss Elsie Sackett of Appleton and H. J. Hughes, a former Lawrence student were married at the home of the bride's mother.

Mrs. S. A. Jones, Lawrence-st presented Lawrence college with the equipment which her son Henry carried through the civil war consisting of a musket, bayonet, saber and cartridge box.

Appleton Pickle & Preserving company was having a run on their mustard which was put up in glass containers which resembled the battleship Maine.

TEN YEARS AGO

Glen W. Wood of Green Bay was in Appleton on business.

Douglas Hodgins and G. P. Nye of Hortonville visited Appleton friends.

Miss Adele Uman returned from a two months visit with Chicago relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bremer of Roger Park, Ill., were here to spend the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thom.

IMAGINED

---that's all there is to life

CAN YOU IMAGINE

Real life as it's pictured on the screen?

A last year's car as good as new? A man who doesn't think he earns more than he gets?

Do you remember way back when Sheriff Otto H. Zuchlike was a sensation as a wrestler and boxer? The Twenty-Five Years Ago editor recalls a wrestling match he won 25 years ago this week in the old Central Music hall. Suggestion for another anniversary celebration.

We're afraid no one will want to run for mayor or alderman next spring, since city election day comes on April 1, or All Fool's day.

Lessons in Salesmanship

A gentleman with a good understanding and a firm foundation stepped into a shoe store to buy himself a Christmas gift of a pair of shoes. The clerk tried on a size twelve and the customer said that they were too small. Up spoke one of the other clerks and gave the following advice: "Try on the box."

"Stunning world," says Karl the Kompositor. A man is a good deal like a worm. When he gets old enough to go about alone, some chicken generally picks him up.

It's a lucky thing for Santa Claus that no one can argue with him or he surely would be a busy man these days, eh what?

We want to warn those ten Santa Clauses that Appleton's chimneys are not big enough so all can go down at once.

LANGUAGE LESSON

Correct this sentence: "No madam, we have only a few in stock, and I can positively assure you we will have no reduction sale in January," said the clerk to the Christmas shopper.

A dumbbell is a man who thinks John Doe is the greatest criminal in history.

SUCH A MODEST MAN

If you hear a friend coming home from a card game say he won "Oh, a couple dollars," you can make up your mind that the other fellows in the game won all the way from "a couple dollars" to that which busted the bank.

Hmm! Less than a week until Christmas. And so far nary a car-sticker has made a picture showing a ragged urchin in front of a bakery window. Still we're pinning pretty high hopes on the Good Fellows editor. But we positively dare McCutcheon from resurrecting his perennial favorite.

Farming Taken Up By Numerous Jews In America

The Jew, while generally not thought of as an agriculturist, in fact, is showing a commendable enterprise and interest in this type of service. In America at the present time there are 75,000 Jewish immigrants with their families engaged in the occupation of farming. They are said to be cultivating no less than 1,000,000 acres of land estimated in value at $100,000,000. This achievement seems even more impressive when facts are taken into consideration.

In many places of the old world land owning among Jews is almost physically impossible, either due to political prejudice or to economic reasons. Because of such circumstances whatever inclination existed among members of this race to indulge in agricultural work was stifled.

With immigration to America a new life has opened to these people and they have gone back to the native instinct of their people which was first demonstrated a thousand or more years ago. The enterprise shows a commendable adaptation of a principle of industry. Here in America all races, if they possess the necessary desire to work, find opportunity to express their ambitions in actual accomplishments through specialization or general service.

Perfumes Used As Antiseptics

(From Buenos Aires Nacion.) The art of perfumery dates back to remote times and originates in the orient. It is impossible to give a precise date when people began to use camphor, myrrh, musk and rose essence. We only know that the orientals were the first to use them.

Many perfumes acted as preventives against contagious diseases. That, at least, is how the first toilet waters were used. During a plague in Marseilles four young men invented an aromatic vinegar which, poured over their clothes, allowed them to rob corpses without catching the plague. For many years this vinegar was known in France under the name of The Vinegar of the Four Thieves.

The old custom of putting sachets in drawers and dresses originated also as an antiseptic measure. Certain herbs, rosemary, for instance, were supposed to prevent illness. Rosemary was particularly used to prevent neuralgia and headaches.

In old times the offer of perfume was considered a sign of profoundest respect and admiration. In some towns in England it is still the custom to sprinkle the drawing room floor with aromatic leaves.

Hungarian water was the first perfume obtained in Europe by manufacture. It was composed of rosemary essence and distilled vinegar. Rosemary soon displaced incense papers at funerals and weddings. It was also used in witchcraft to keep off evil spirits. Moreover, it was said to be effective against poison, eye troubles and the evil eye.

Although the use of perfumes has often been severely criticized, it has never died out. Women of all times and of all countries have a special predilection for perfumes.

Q. Who was Mrs. David Lloyd George prior to her marriage and where was her home? C. L.

A. Mrs. Lloyd George was Margaret ("Maggie") Owen, daughter of Mr. Richard Owen of Mynydd Edfyfed Fawr. Her distinguished ancestors include Owain Glyndwr, the famous Welsh warrior and statesman, and Hywel Dda, one of the greatest Welsh kings.

Q. Is it known of what kind of wood the cross upon which Christ was crucified was made? K. R.

A. Orazio Maruccini, in a monograph says that "a microscopic examination of the fragments of the cross scattered throughout the world in the form of relics reveals the fact that it was made from a pine tree."

Q. How "is it possible to tell whether coffee has been adulterated?" H. G. L.

A. A good test is to put a portion of the ground coffee in a glass partly filled with water, shake the mixture well, and then set aside for a moment and watch its appearance. Pure coffee contains a large quantity of oil, and for this reason, a great number of the particles will float. Nearly all coffee substitutes are heavier than water and will sink to the bottom.

Q. What is the name of the woman who is known as the "Saint Margaret" of New Orleans? C. C. F.

A. This title has been given to Margaret Haughery, through whose generosity three orphanages were established in New Orleans, and also a home for the aged and infirm.

Q. Has any assistance been given to Japanese students in this country who have temporarily been financially embarrassed by conditions which prevail in Japan because of the earthquake? A. G. B.

A. The Japan Society of Boston has started a movement to enable such students to complete their work this year. Money advanced will be repaid and used to establish scholarships for the benefit of children of the present generation.

Q. If a ship can be steered without deviation from true course, why not airships and airplanes be steered at night in storms by the same instruments, without deviating from a true course and thus do away with beacon lights except for landing? H. O. D.

A. A ship at sea will deviate from her course due to the action of the winds, currents, and imperfect steering. Airships are acted upon directly by the wind which might cause great deviation from the course. Navigational aids are required.

Q. What is cuttle bone? K. L. C.

A. Cuttle bone is the bone of the cuttlefish. It is used for making polishing powders and is often hung in the cages of canaries and other birds, affording them a supply of lime and salts. It is used by many jewelers as a substitute for bone and ivory.

No Survivors Of Custer Fight

There is no event in American history that has been so inexcusably misdescribed, distorted and so made a subject of fancy hallucination and falsehood as the Custer Massacre. Fake "survivors" or "witnesses" began to appear and to narrate fantastic and untruthful tales within a month from the day Custer fell; and hardly a month passed, even now, but that some new disciple of Hunchausen arises with an absurd and easily disproven story. Even some of the real survivors of the battle have caught the habit and have flitted with the truth in order to make heroes of themselves. Believe me, when I say that if all the alleged "survivors" were genuine; if all the witnesses who claim to have seen the passing of Custer and his command had really been among those present, the array of "witnesses" and "survivors" would almost rival the strength of the regiment.

The truth is that of Custer's immediate command—the five troops he led down the river after he sent Reno across to attack, there was no survivor. Every one was killed. And the truth also is that, saving and excepting this, there were no witnesses to the massacre.

I have yet to see a single "survivor" or "witness" story (and I think I have read them all, which does not contain within itself the unmistakable earmarks of fraud and falsity, when checked against the established and proven facts.—From Adventure Magazine.

CITY IS HAPPY OVER CHANCE TO HEAR NOTED OPERA

Madame Butterfly Will Be Sung
In English At Chapel
Wednesday Night

Opera night comes so seldom in Appleton that people are really enthusiastic about the performance as it draws near. The San Carlo opera company will present "Madame Butterfly" in English at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Wednesday evening. A large seat sale has taken place but tickets still are available.

"Madame Butterfly," Puccini's exquisite lyric drama, was founded on the book of John Luther Long, and the subsequent drama by David Belasco. The story describes in unusually realistic fashion the love of the little Japanese cherry blossom maiden, Cho Cho San, for the handsome United States naval lieutenant, Benjamin Franklin Pinkerton, whose ship has carried him to the port of Nagasaki, upon an adjacent hill of which the little Japanese maiden resides. Her passion is genuine, but Pinkerton's interest is more one of casual curiosity than of real love. The curious Shinto wedding ceremony is the first act and the sudden and ill-omened entrance of the American wife, who is an incident possessing profound significance for the earnest-minded little bride, as the first is to change the course of her entire life, while the second separates her irrevocably from her past. What happens in the second and third act is closely connected with these incidents, and forms the remarkable dramatic frame-work into which Puccini has woven his exquisitely beautiful symphonic score.

SAW POSSIBILITIES
When this famous modern Italian composer first became aware of Mr. Long's fascinating story and Mr. Belasco's vivid dramatization, he at once became impressed with the remarkable possibilities offered the lyric composer, and just as had been the case with "La Boheme" and "Tosca," he commissioned his librettists Illica and Giacosa, to write a book for which he composed the music. The opera came to its initial production at La Scala, Milan, in 1904, but for some unaccountable reason did not prove immediately successful, but its eventual triumph could not be gainsaid, and today it is considered, along with "La Boheme," Puccini's best work, a verdict which the composer himself shares. Favorite gems from the opera include the beautiful entrance song of Butterfly in the first act; the exquisitely orchestrated aria "Un bel di vedremo" in the second act; the admirable intermezzo between the second and third acts; and the dramatic finale and death scene of the disillusioned maiden at the end of the opera.

DETTMAN ENGAGED TO AUDIT ACCOUNTS

City Used More Water In November Than In October, Monthly Report Shows

Slightly more city water was used in November than in October, according to the monthly report of A. R. Hall, water department plant superintendent and bacteriologist, which was submitted to the Appleton water commission at its meeting in the city hall Monday.

A total of 3,920,920 gallons of water was pumped and treated, of which 18,140,000 was pumped by the out engine pumps and 2,750,000 by electrical power. The pumping required the use of 3,514 gallons of fuel oil. The average run per day by the out engines was 14.9 hours and the total hours for the electric motor was 27. Bacterial removal efficiency was 99.3 per cent the report said.

Edwin A. Dettman of Appleton, public accountant, was given the contract for making the 1923 audit of water department accounts, according to a vote of the commission Monday. The commission also ordered a check meter to be installed for the sprinkling system of the Riverside Hotel and Paper company's new plant. A payroll of $1,219.43 and general accounts of $5,518.57 were allowed.

REORGANIZE BOARD FOR GIVING HELP TO NEEDY SOLDIERS

Three Members Of Soldiers Relief Commission Will Be Appointed

The "Soldiers Relief commission" which apportions money for the country's indigent soldiers and their families such as are not otherwise receiving pensions is to be reorganized. There are at present only two members on the commission, Alfred J. G. pin, chairman, and Fred Heuser, Sr., secretary. The law requires the appointment of a third member in the county judge, and that an amendment is expected to be made shortly by Judge John Botters.

Terms of Mr. G. and Mr. Heuser are said to have expired when will necessitate three appointments at this time. The law requires that the members shall be war veterans themselves. They receive the same compensation as members of the county board, and are limited to holding four meetings a year. For the first time, veterans of the World war and the Spanish-American war will be eligible to pensions as well as the Civil war veterans. The compensation is only for such veterans who are not otherwise receiving pensions. The sum of $1,000 was appropriated by the county board to provide for next year's claims.

High School Students Vote For "Little Theatre" Here

Appleton will be a much improved place when the present high school seniors come into their own as citizens if they do not lose their enthusiasm on the way to manhood and womanhood. The classes in citizenship have been discussing the city thoroughly and have come to the conclusion that it needs many things.

The votes of 65 students were obtained regarding the amusement needs of Appleton. Of these, 55 were in favor of a little theatre in which Appleton artists and amateurs could present theatricals of the highest type. Those who voted against it were not against the highest type of performance but felt that the little theatre movement would not be feasible. The students, who want it, thought that such people as Mr. and Mrs. Carl McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oaks, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Farnisher in the city would give the theatre a great deal of backing and interest.

FAVOR ORCHESTRA
The report on a community orchestra was strongly in favor as shown by a 59 to 11 vote. The students thought that since there was a strong conservatory here, a musical orchestra for those who are musical and who enjoy playing would be a great benefit. They suggested that the Palmyra organization be made a basis for the development of the orchestra.

That school music should be encouraged was the opinion of 35 students while one was definitely opposed. The students felt that the emphasis should be placed upon appreciation rather than on performance. They were against compulsory music. Twenty-four were in favor of a school band.

COW AVERAGES 100 LBS. OF MILK DAILY

One hundred and four and one-tenth pounds of milk in one day and 1507.2 pounds of milk in 15 days is the official record of the Holstein cow, "Koradylke (Cassius Segis 374915)" owned by the Wisconsin Live Stock association of Appleton as reported by R. M. Harrison, secretary.

The test was under the supervision while two voted "no." The negatives felt that there was no interest to be aroused in the student band.

All opinions developed on these subjects came from the classes. There was no attempt on the part of the instructors to impose ideas. Each student formed his own opinions and then these were discussed in class and voted upon.

What Do Intelligent Investigators Think of Chiropractic?

Elbert Hubbard says: "The Chiropractor knows the fact, that a pressure of bone on the nerves in the spine brings about a condition, where the nervous system fails to act properly. You will like it

You will like Kraft Cheese—every one does. It is Wisconsin cheese at its best—nothing taken away—but the rind.

No state produces better cheese than Wisconsin—that's why we use it—more than forty million pounds last year.

They tell us that we perform miracles with cheese. Perhaps we do, but we cannot make good cheese out of bad—nor can any one else. We simply make good cheese better.

Every state, city and town in the Union is now eating Wisconsin cheese in the convenient and appetizing form of Kraft Cheese—in loaves, in tins.

DRUNKEN DRIVER HITS ANOTHER CAR. PAYS FINE OF $30

Ernest Schliekeu Charged With Driving His Truck On Wrong Side Of Street

A collision between an automobile truck and an automobile on South River-st Monday resulted in the arrest and conviction of one of the drivers on the charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Schliekeu was charged with being drunk and was placed under arrest by Patrolman Frank Johnson and Driver Albert Delgen. In municipal court Tuesday morning he paid a fine of $30 together with costs amounting to $4.39.

Honor Roll Of Good Fellows

The Good Fellow Club fund for making children happy on Christmas day grew only $70 from Monday noon to this noon. This is much less than half the average growth which must be maintained from now until Christmas day if the $1,500 required here is to be raised. That $1,500 is not an arbitrary sum. That is the amount which the five agencies cooperating through the Appleton Welfare council believe is necessary to properly care for the nearly 200 families in Appleton that need help.

Only a few days are left to raise more than $1,200. Less than $300 has been contributed thus far. The goal is a long ways off and the time is short.

NIGHT LETTER FROM MRS. JOSEPH GRAVES HAMILTON TO HER DAUGHTER, LESLIE PRESCOTT

I forgot to mention that in Karl's last letter which came while you were very ill, he asked my permission to give Alice what he called a modest string of pearls. I think it is preposterous, although I know that a string of pearls means nothing to him. What do you think about it? In some way Alice has found out that he wants to give them to her and she cabled me yesterday begging me to give my consent. Write answer. MOTHER.

Night Letter From Leslie Prescott to Mrs. Joseph Graves Hamilton

I think it would be perfectly all right. Let Alice have her pearls. She has always seemed to feel rather envious of me ever since she gave me that lovely set of imitation ones. I think at times she wanted them back. Alice is not grown up yet, although she thinks she is. We all know that Karl looks upon her as his little sister. LESLIE.

Cable From Mrs. Joseph Graves Hamilton to Alice Hamilton

Tell Karl he has my consent to give you the pearls. Be sure it is a small string and the pearls are small. Others would not be becoming to a young girl. MOTHER.

Cable From Alice Hamilton to Mrs. Joseph Graves Hamilton

I was so sure you would give your consent that I had already accepted the pearls from Karl. They are wonderful. You are a dear and Karl the sweetest thing that ever lived. ALICE.

Cable From Karl to Mrs. Joseph Graves Hamilton

Thank you, my dear Mrs. Hamilton, for giving me one of the greatest pleasures of my life. Alice is very happy. Consequently so am I. KARL.

Note From Mrs. Harry Ellington to Mrs. Leslie Prescott

Harry told me today that you were able to see visitors. I have not yet gotten over the shock of our accident. I think the sight of you, my dear, in full health will have a calming effect upon my nerves.

Will you accept these little lace pinwheels for John, Jr.? My, but you are a lucky girl! Not only do you get over your accident splendidly, but you have thrown in for good measure with the gift of your recovery a perfectly beautiful baby boy.

Harry says Jack is always raving about him. Expect me in about four this afternoon.

Jack tells Harry that he would like to get you a new car, but he is afraid to suggest it to you for fear you will feel you could never drive another. I told him that was all nonsense, so if you just intimate to Jack that you have no fear of driving again I expect you will see another coupe at the door when you are able to go out.

I hope you will take me for your first ride.

With love, RUTH.

TOMORROW — Leslie Prescott writes to Sydney Carton—A wonderful gift.

Adventures Of The Twins

Andy Antelope's Surprise

Nancy and Nick and Mister Gallop, the little cowboy, followed long-legged Mister Crane, and Mister Crane was following Andy Antelope as fast as his wings could carry him.

Mister Crane was following Andy Antelope because Andy had promised to show him where Taddy Frog was staying.

The little antelope fellow wanted to be a friend of everybody's, and he was anxious to do the big bird a favor. He never once thought that the little frog would come to harm.

"Taddy, Taddy Frog, where are you?" the Twins heard him call out when he reached the edge of the puddlepond. "On, Cousin Taddy Frog, Mister Crane wants to speak to you. He's coming now."

The next thing the Twins heard was a pop and a splash, and by the time they reached the puddlepond there was nothing to be seen of Taddy Frog but a few rings of muddy water swelling bigger and bigger and slowly melting into nothing.

"Now, look what you've gone and done!" shrieked Mister Crane, waving just then, and folding up his wings and unfolding his legs to stand on. "Why did you tell him that I wanted him. Didn't I tell you that you talked too much?"

"I'm ever so sorry," whimpered Andy, "but I thought he'd wait. He hasn't very good manners, disappearing just when he knows company's coming."

Nancy felt so sorry for the little antelope that she spoke right up "You did exactly right," she said, petting his glossy head. "Mister Crane wanted to eat Taddy, so he did, and you've saved his life."

Mister Crane said nothing, but looked very sulky.

"Do folks eat other folks?" Andy asked in surprise.

"I'm sorry to say they do," said Mister Gallop. "Even little antelope boys. Sniffer Krazy is very fond of antelope, and Mister Fox and Granddaddy Golden Eagle also. You must go right back to your mother until you know the world better and can take care of yourself. Run along, now up to the mountains as fast as you can go. But listen! If anyone ever gets after you, come right to me."

Without a goodbye, away ran Andy, and he never stopped until he got home.

Mister Gallop and Nancy and Nick found their ponies and rode back to the cave.

And there lay a telegram addressed to the Twins.

"Dear Twins," it said. "Come back at once. 'The Fairy Queen.'"

Columbus, O. — Preparing meals and keeping house for seven children is enough to tax all the energy of most mothers.

Not Mrs. Blanche Reese.

After doing her daily chores at home, Mrs. Reese goes to the county jail and acts as matron from 3 in the afternoon until 11 at night.

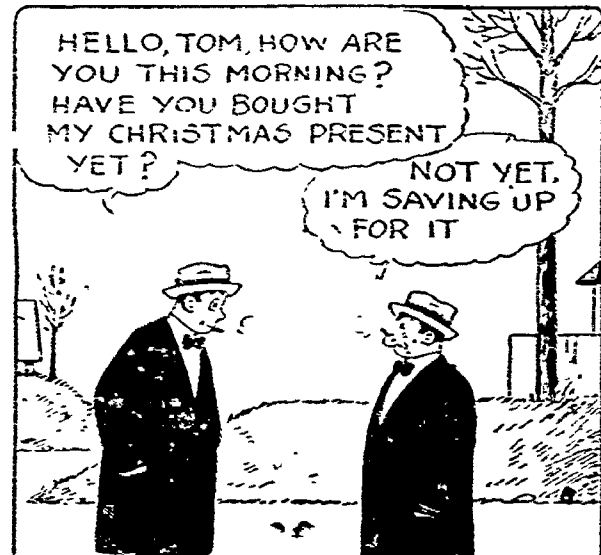

That's her way of providing for the family. Her husband died 15 months ago.

She sees that the women prisoners are properly fed and cared for, and Mrs. Reese she looks after them as she does her own children, many of them have said.

Dundee Regains Junior Lightweight Crown In Battle With Bernstein

Yonkers Fighter Carried Fight To Veteran During Most Of 15 Rounds; Johnny Slow And Stiff

By Associated Press

New York—Johnny Dundee, 30-year old veteran who has participated in more than 500 ring battles, Tuesday sported two boxing titles. The first, the world's featherweight championship which he won last summer from Eugene Criqui of France; the second, the American junior lightweight championship, he regained Monday night from Jack Bernstein of Yonkers, N. Y.

Dundee was awarded the judges' decision after 15 rounds of continuous but uninspiring fighting in which the newspaper critics agreed he had been outfought. The older man was considerably off edge, entirely lacked his spryness, was light in his punches, weak in his defense and did not respond to attacks with sustained forays as he did when in his prime.

Bernstein was the aggressor almost entirely during the first eleven rounds being jabbed out of the lead in the seventh. Several times the defender staggered his opponent with his harder blows but he was unable to avoid clinches in his follow-ups. He gave Dundee a severe beating and brought blood from his nose and left ear. Bernstein was unable to ward off Dundee's sudden battering that began in the twelfth, until the latter part of the fifteenth round.

MILWAUKEE CLUB BUYS MOUND ACE OF NEW ORLEANS

Dixie Walker Brings $5,000 When Brewers Purchase Star Hurler

Milwaukee—Roy Dixie Walker, leading hurler of the Southern association for the last two seasons, was purchased by the Milwaukee club on Monday for $5,000. Walker, who won twenty-two games and lost nine last season, is a veteran, but has been one of the best pitchers in the southern loop for many years. He was given tryouts by both the Cleveland and St. Louis clubs, but is just a bit shy of major league caliber, though almost a sensation as a minor league pitcher.

Larry Gilbert, former Brewer, who is managing the New Orleans club, wanted one of Clark's pitchers and some cash for Walker, but as he would not accept any of the fingers Clark was willing to turn loose, the deal was finally made on a cash basis.

The Brewer manager has been tipped off to Walker by several Southern league connections and he says he is confident that the pitcher will be a real winner in the association.

CHAMP OF LEAGUE

New Orleans, La.—In the sale of Dixie Walker, accepted in Southern Association circles as the champion smokeball hurler in the league, the New Orleans club has parted with one of its mainstays in winning the pennant during the last year.

Walker, a veteran at pitching ball, has been in and out of the majors three times. Some ten years ago he served a few months with Cleveland, but was sent back only to return there. Four years ago Branch Ricker tried him for a season.

During the last season Walker won twenty-two and lost ten games for the Pelicans. His work was one of the principal reasons of New Orleans' copping the championship.

The sale of Walker is a result of the local club officials deciding on a general breaking up of the team that won the flag. Walker, though one of the stars of the league, has served here long enough, and it is claimed that this is the motive for his transfer to Milwaukee.

At End Of String

GEORGE "K. O." CHANEY

ONE of the greatest little punchers of all time, George "K. O." Chaney of Baltimore, has finally reached the end of his string.

The other night Chaney went against Ted Merchant, visiting English lightweight, and was badly beaten. To save himself from a knockout Chaney struck the Britisher low in the third round and was declared loser on a foul. At the time Chaney was in a bad way and had the bout progressed, would probably have been put to sleep.

Chaney, a southpaw, first attracted attention as a featherweight, piling up an amazing run of knockouts. He was matched with Johnny Kilbane, then champion, and knocked out in three rounds.

Chaney later came back as a lightweight and proceeded to run up another astonishing string of knockouts. In later years Chaney scored most of his knockouts with his right hand, although he was essentially a left-fighter. Chaney found that most of his adversaries paid little attention to his right but were always set to block his left. It was then that he changed to plugging with his right and became more effective than ever.

Chaney has been going backward of late and his inability to stand up in front of Merchant's attack indicates that he is about ready to pass into the shadows along with Willie Jackson, Charley White, Rocky Kansas and other star lightweights who have slipped into semi-obscurity.

TIE WITH DEPAUW BOOSTS HOPES OF BADGER QUINTET

Wisconsin Basketball Team Prepares For Prelim With Marquette

Madison — Wisconsin's basketball stock too a decided jump when the Badgers, playing in mid-season form, held the speedy DePauw team of Greencastle, Ind., to a 25 to 25 tie.

With their record as yet clear, the Badgers are now preparing for the third preliminary game of the season against Marquette at Milwaukee Wednesday.

Dopers declare that the Meanwell men hit their stride in the DePauw game. The team was taxed to its utmost strength, holding the Indiana quintet to a tie a few days after it had defeated Illinois. The Marquette game will be the first for the Badgers this season on a foreign court and it is expected to bring greater confidence on the part of the team.

Spooner and Wackman, forward and center, have been showing unusual early season form in the opinion of followers of the team. Wackman has started at the center post in place of Captain Gibson and has been holding down the pivot position in good form. It is said. He tied the game with DePauw by a free throw in the last fifty seconds of play.

Spooner is the leading scoring cog in the Meanwell machine so far this season. Against DePauw, he threw three field baskets and two free throws. Elson and Debold appear to be Coach Meanwell's choice for the guard posts.

The Badgers will be given two weeks rest during the Christmas holidays, opening their schedule against Franklin college here on January 2. On January 5, the conference season will open against Indiana on Indiana's court.

KIMBERLY OPENS CAGEING SEASON

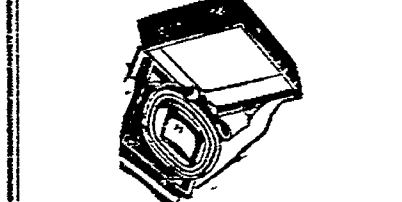

Kimberly Independents start their basketball schedule Tuesday evening when they clash with the Little Chute High school quintet at Kimberly.

St. Norbert's Athletics of DePauw are second on the Kimberly program and will invade that town Friday night. The Independents have practically the same lineup as the old H. N. S. quint, only the name has been changed.

FEW COMEBACKS DOT RECORDS OF PUGILISTIC GAME

Stanley Ketchell Was One Of Few Who Received Crown After Defeat

The other night old Jack Britton essayed a role that many have tried only to meet with failure. Britton attempted to stage a ring "comeback." He didn't. He was beaten by Frankie Schoell of Buffalo, a very good boy.

"Comebacks" in the roped arena meet with less success than in any other sport activity. Now and then, some pug turns the trick but it is the exception to the general rule. Corbett, Fitz, Jeffries, Willard, Gans, Nelson, Wolcast, all tried it in vain.

Stanley Ketchell was one of the few to accomplish such a feat. "Ketch" lost his middleweight title to Billy Papke on a kayo. Two months later he won it back again, handing the "Illinois Thunderbolt" a dose of his own medicine. But they seldom come back!

RASEY DISCUSSES ROTARY IDEALS IN SPEECH FOR RADIO

High School Principal Is First Appletonian To Give Wireless Address

Lee C. Rasey, principal of Appleton high school, probably is the first Appletonian to broadcast a speech over radio. Mr. Rasey was the principal speaker at the Rotary program which was broadcast from station WPAH at Waupaca Monday noon.

While at least ten Rotary clubs heard the program on the radio at their luncheon meetings, the Ford du Lac club, which arranged the program, did not get it at all. Clubs at around Fond du Lac including Berlin, Beaver Dam, Sheboygan and others in the south reported by telegram that they were getting it clearly. But Ford du Lac could not make the connection and its big booster meeting with 100 per cent attendance was without a program.

In his address, Mr. Rasey said that

SCHNEIDER HOME FROM WASHINGTON

George J. Schneider, congressman from the Ninth district, arrived at his home here from Washington Monday evening to spend the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Mary Schneider, 941 State st. Mr. Schneider lives at the Harrington hotel while in Washington.

The congressman was appointed to the postoffice committee of the lower house. Inasmuch as this is one of the major committees of congress he did not receive another committee appointment.

There are more than 1,600 Rotary clubs with a membership of 107,000 in 28 countries. He said that in the 18 years of Rotary existence, only one club has proved a failure and returned its charter. During the past year, the 1,700 clubs have maintained an attendance record of 85 per cent, a record unrivaled by any other club. The greater part of the speech was taken up with the benefit of the Rotary movement to its membership through its weekly programs, its spirit of fellowship and its philosophy of service.

Farmers Forced To Haul Water As Wells Dry Up

Unless there is a heavy rainfall before the ground freezes up deeply, no relief is in sight for the farmers whose wells are drying up on account of the proloner dry weather this fall.

While the situation relative to the condition of wells in Outagamie-co has not become one of grave county-wide significance, being without water on the farm is not by any means a laughing matter, farmers will tell.

Shallow wells that are in the greater part open and flowing wells from springs are those affected. It is feared that some farmers have been compelled to lead their cattle over some distance to marshes or springs to secure water for them. Others haul water in barrels and milk cans for their livestock.

FLOOD OF HOLIDAY MAIL POURS INTO POSTOFFICE HERE

Mail Your Christmas Cards Early, Postmaster Zuehke Warns

Christmas mailing started with a vim Monday in the Appleton postoffice and a large amount of business was transacted. Patrons are heeding the frequent appeal to shop and mail early.

But the bulk of the business Monday was the shipping of parcels. First class mail, especially that of Christmas post cards is not much above normal, according to Postmaster Zuehke, and he therefore renews his advice to mail these early part of the week so that the addressees will be sure to receive them by next Monday.

Handling, transportation and delivery of mail is of necessity impeded during the Christmas week and people should let that be an inducement to mail considerably earlier than is usually required for the delivery of mail. They are again reminded of the fact that very little mail will be delivered in cities on Christmas day and none in rural districts, because of the holiday recently declared.

One of the greatest aids to avoid the confusion and annoyance of the crowds in postoffices just before Christmas is to buy a full supply of postage stamps for letters and post cards immediately. This will make it unnecessary to fall in line and wait for long periods to get service at the windows. The crowds should be limited to those who have parcels to be watched or insured or mail to be registered.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O'Connell, County Line rd, left Monday night for Victoria, British Columbia, Canada, where they will spend the winter. On the trip home they will spend three weeks in Seattle, Wash.

THREE CLASSES OF PEOPLE IN STORES

That all customers who go into a store are in three general classes, those who definitely know what they want, those who have only a vague idea of what they want and those who are drawn into the store by curiosity, was the opinion which Clarence Dyson gave to the salesmanship class at Appleton high school Monday afternoon. Mr. Dyson is a member of the commerce faculty at Lawrence college.

It is the second and third class of customer which offers the greatest possibility for salesmanship, Mr. Dy-
